

InCapta, Inc. to Produce Automobile TV Program, “Fast Kids, Fast Cars” in 2017

SAN DIEGO CA- March 23, 2016 - InCapta, Inc (OTC PINK: INCT) -----

InCapta, Inc., plans to film a new automobile TV show entitled “Fast Kids, Fast Cars.” The TV show, slated for 2017, will feature start to finish tips and actual live buying and selling of cars for profit and plans call for the program to be broadcast initially on YouTube until a TV channel or cable agreement is negotiated. The show is unique in that it’s written, directed and produced by young adults, ranging from 14 to 18 years of age.

Greg Martin, President of InCapta, Inc, said, “It’s great to see young people so excited about cars and business. Just about everyone loves fast, sports cars and the challenge of making money. These young people are off to a great start in their early lives with business experiences such as this. We anticipate the show will be not only a lot of fun, but also a potential profit center for them and the company. We’re very excited to assist in the development of the show and providing our many years of business and TV experience to entrepreneurs.”

About the Show

The show provides the audience car secrets from the “new breed of entrepreneurs” who despite their age, utilize car buying and selling methods created in a proprietary formula for buying, reconditioning and marketing pre-owned automobiles that they plan on teaching to anyone willing to watch. The show will be filmed weekly and the first series of programs will get underway in 2017. The kids plan to develop a “how to car manual” providing in-depth techniques on automobile acquisitions, reconditioning and sales.
